Meter readings, first quarter 2026

This record claims the third part of the archival standard at the level between the plain one and the tagged one: it may carry a file of any kind, and every mark of ink on its pages says which letter it stands for. The figures below are also carried inside the file, as the comma-separated table a machine reads. A person opens the record and reads the page; a program opens the same record and takes the figures without reading anything at all.
