Terms of carriage, edition of 2026

This record claims the fourth part of the archival standard, the one built on the second version of PDF. It says what it is in its metadata packet and nowhere else: there is no information dictionary behind the page, and the title above is the title the file carries. Everything the part asks for is here and nothing more: every face is carried whole inside the file, every colour says what it means, and the pages keep their looks with no font, no profile and no program to fetch from anywhere.

Goods are carried under the schedule current on the day they are accepted. A schedule that changes after acceptance does not reach an order already accepted.
